Farewell to dear old Ellsworth High,
The school that we love most.
Although we soon must part from you,
Of you we still will boast.

For four years we've been with you;
These days we soon will grieve.
Because we've grown to love you so,
It pains us much to leave.

Since we will soon be leaving here,
We wish to say goodbye.
Therefore, with much grief in our hearts,
Farewell, good luck, goodbye.

Our last adieu we sing, tonight we leave your fold.
The road we now shall take will be long;
When we leave dear Ellsworth High, we'll remember you.
Our struggles, strifes, and hardships will dim at Ellsworth's name.

Farewell, dear Ellsworth, tonight we must depart,
But these four years we will ne'er forget.
Friends and teachers always true we'll remember too,
In future years our hearts shall turn to Ellsworth High.

History '48

On September 6, 1944, the greatest of all honors was bestowed upon Ellsworth Memorial High School — our class entered its first year at the school. The seniors made us feel right at home the first week, as they let some of the boys walk around the building with their pant legs rolled above their knees so they would be comfortable. The seniors also helped us discover the fact that we had a number of talented singers in our class and even supplied chairs in the cafeteria upon which the girls might stand for an audition before the rest of the school. The Sophomore Class gave a party in our honor which helped us to become better acquainted with our new environment. When we elected our class officers, we chose the following: William Kennedy, President; Lawrence Muska, Vice President; Margaret Reichle, Secretary; and Joseph Zanetti, Treasurer.

After a luxurious summer vacation on tobacco road, we returned to Ellsworth as sophomores. We found that this year our class officers were Edward Muska, President; Joseph Zanetti, Vice President; Ann Moulton, Secretary; and John Lawton, Treasurer. Our one big social of the year was the Sophomore-Freshman Party, which we gave for the new Freshman Class to make them feel at home.

Then after a short summer of work, play, and loafing, we reentered school as sun-tanned juniors. This year our class officers were President, William Kennedy; Vice President, Richard Cooper; Secretary, Marie Cavanaugh; Treasurer, Harriet Mohn. This year our class ventured to do something quite different from what had been done in past years; thus on December 7, we gave the Junior Fair. I know the audience has not forgotten the great performances given by Adolph Grimm as the animal trainer; Henry Pasqualini as Doctor Quack; Leonard Muska as the trained seal; John Broughal as Superman, and the other participants in the side-shows. Of course one thing that will remain on our memory is how Raymond Frink and Leonard Muska as the two parts of a horse couldn't make ends meet. (I don't think this was due to high prices either.) Due to the singing abilities of Joseph Zanetti, Leslie Parent, Nancy Grotta, Dorothy Allen, Margaret Reichle, Lena Watkins, and Edward Muska the minstrel was a great success. Oh! yes, a great deal of the credit must also be given to Edward's dancing doll.

In our junior year we had the privilege of sponsoring the Junior Prom, the best the school has ever witnessed, in our opinion. While preparing for the Prom, boys and girls could be seen sitting on the stage cutting out — no, not paper dolls — paper birds and tropical fruits. As you have probably already guessed, the theme of the Prom was definitely tropical. This year the orchestra was so expensive it had to be put on the stage so there would be no danger of damaging it. Due to the untiring efforts of Doris Hack, Edward Griswold, Patricia Shea, Joseph Zanetti, and their committees the Prom was a success both socially and financially. The untiring efforts of these people also included the hard work which was done in trying to get out of classes to do some decorating.

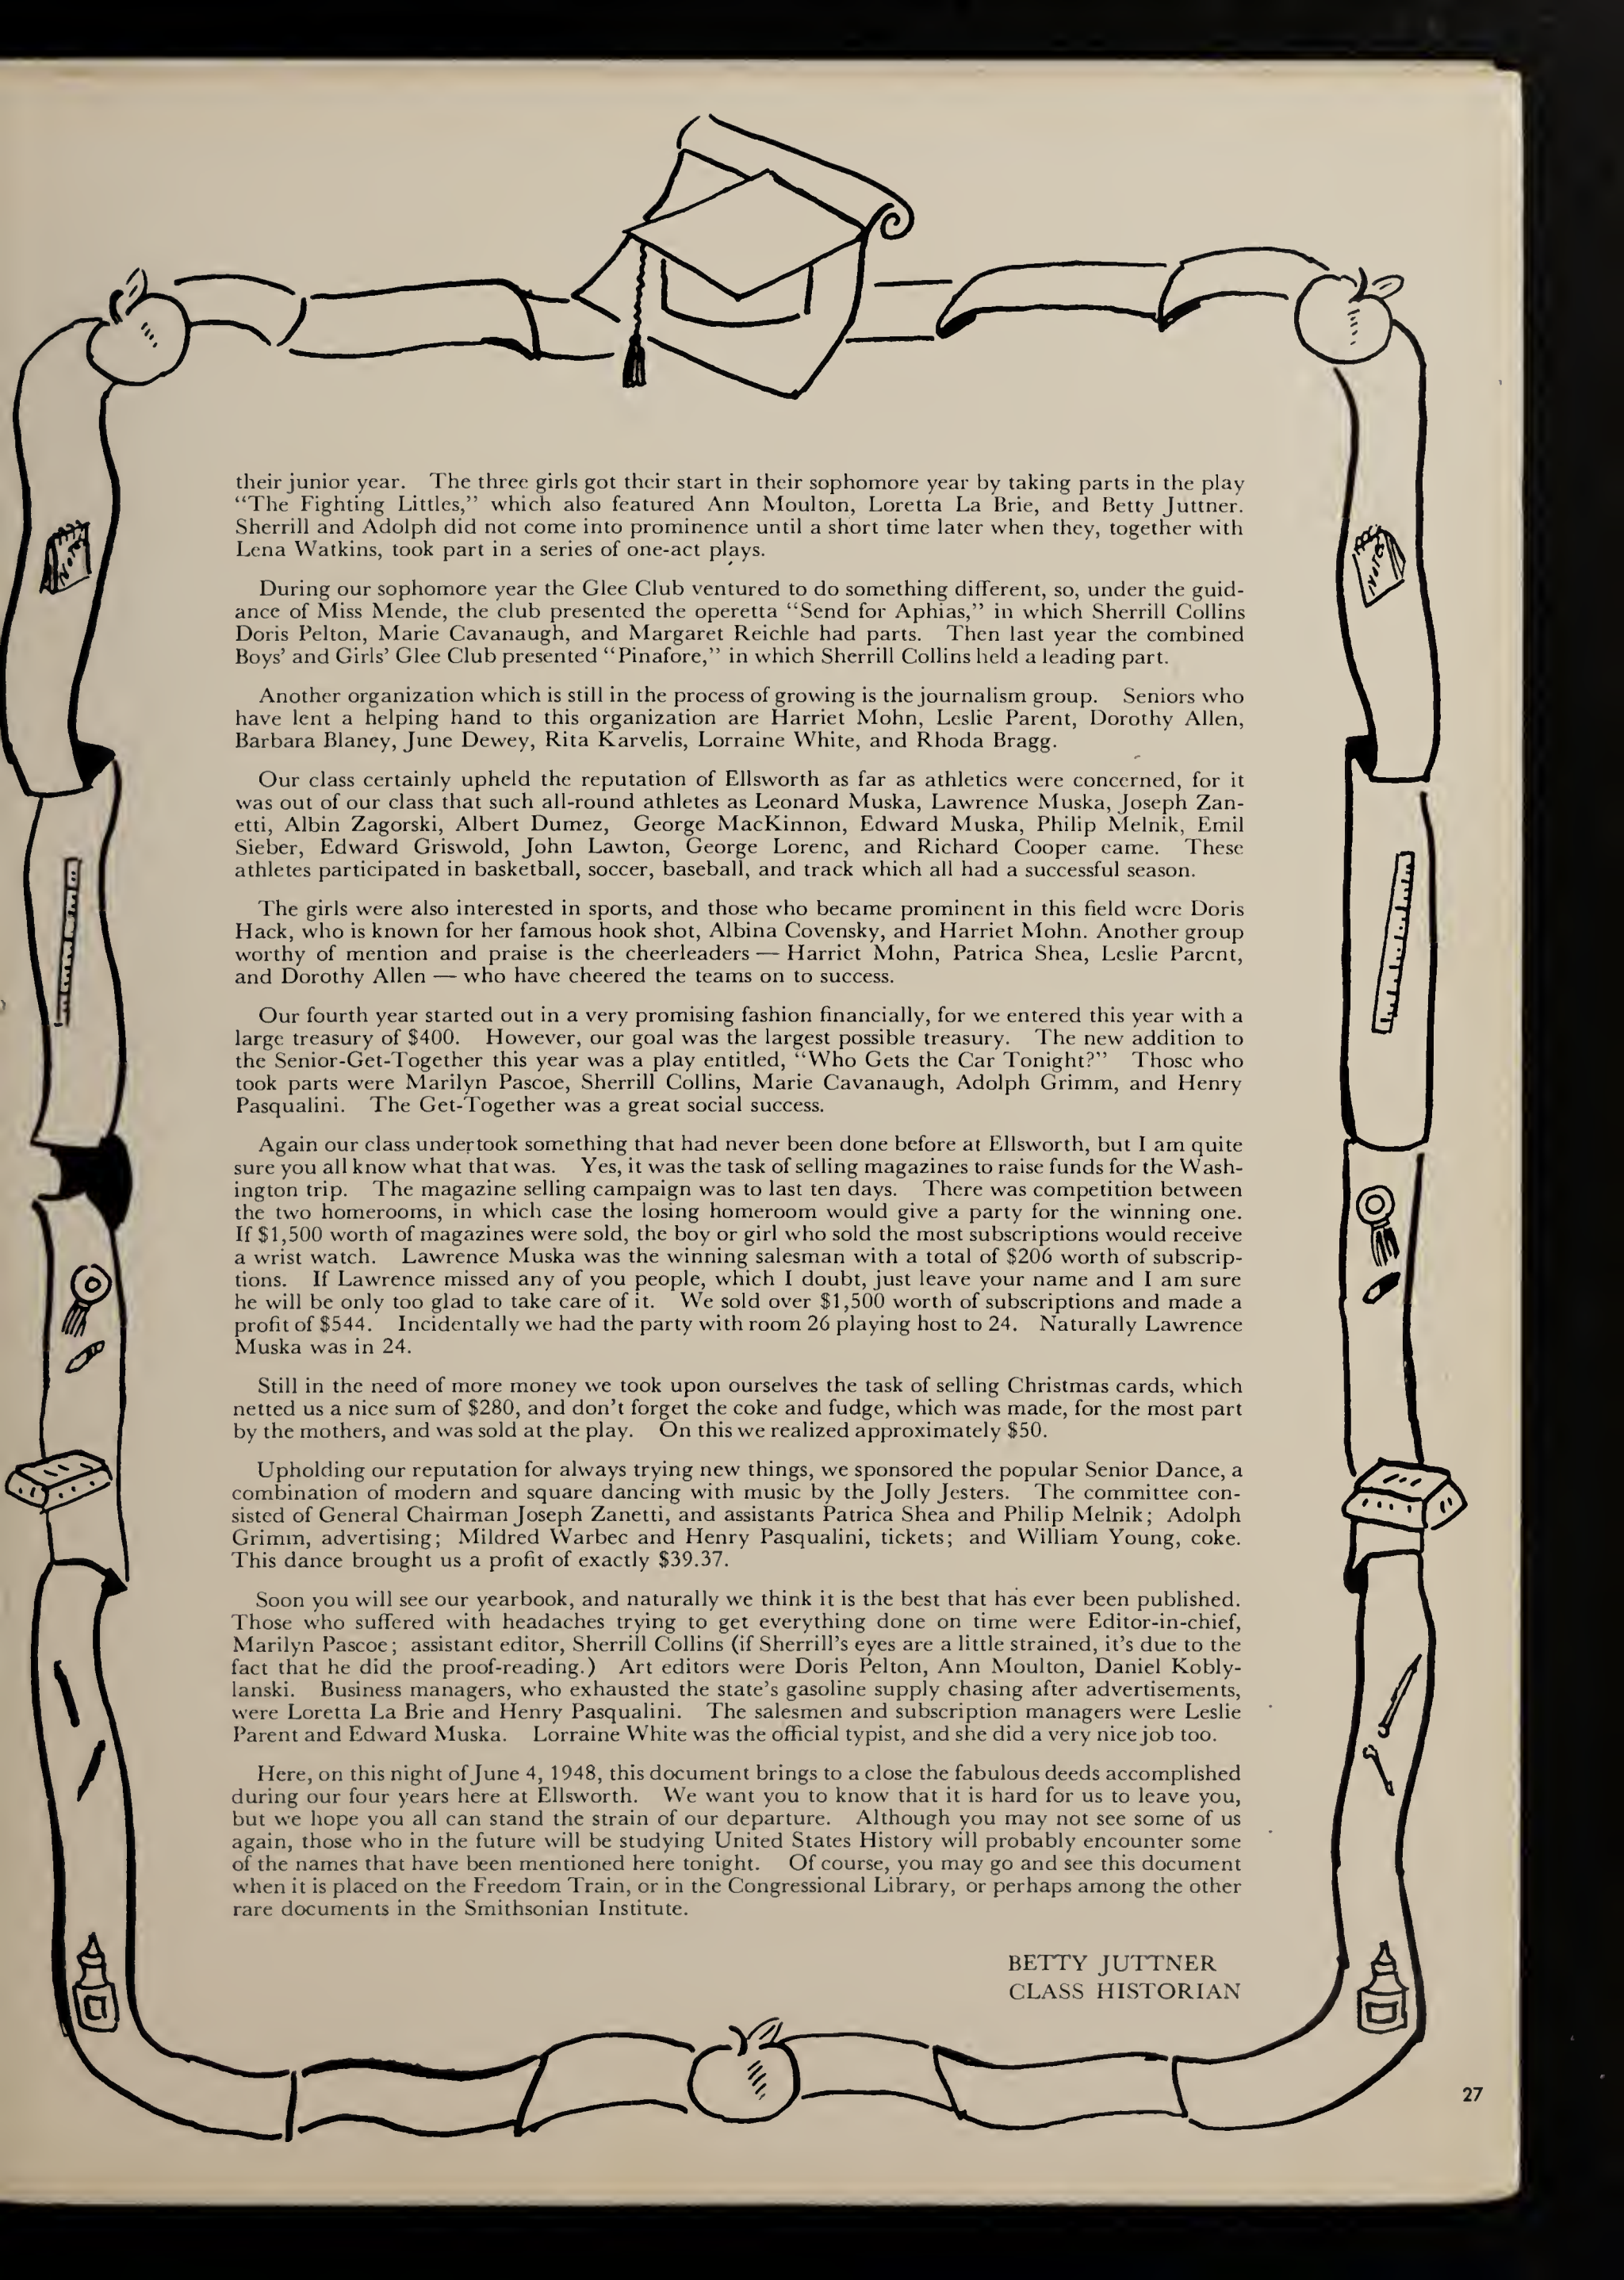

Marie Cavanaugh, Doris Pelton, and Sherrill Collins added a bit of grandeur to our senior friends' Graduation by being marshals. Marilyn Pascoe, Harriet Mohn, Arlene Lackouskas, Ann Moulton, Nan Stoughton, and Betty Juttner honored the Senior Class by ushering at their Class Night and Graduation. As the year slowly came to an end, it was William Kennedy's duty as president to accept, in the behalf of the school, the state flag, which the Senior Class left the school.

Then soon came the day we had all waited and longed for, the day we took possession of the front stairs. The entire school assembled on the front lawn for the glorious occasion. William Kennedy was escorted to the front steps, where he accepted the charter and assured the Senior Class that we would take every precaution to guard the ancient tradition concerning the steps. Being entirely exhausted from the hard work of our junior year we — with the permission of the Board of Education — took a vacation during the summer months.

Had it happened? Was the magnificent day finally here? Yes, the first day of the year that was to make history had arrived. That was of course the day we entered Ellsworth as seniors. Although this was the most significant and glorious day of all, the members of the lower classes eyed us somewhat dolefully, for they knew that we would be with them but a short time. After careful meditation we elected the following to office: William Kennedy, President; Joseph Zanetti, Vice President; Harriet Mohn, Secretary; Ann Moulton, Treasurer. Now that we were full fledged seniors we had the right to use the front steps. Some of the seniors were so enthusiastic about keeping the steps clean that a couple of the boys in our class stood outside the front door and sprayed everyone who came out of the door with a water pistol so they would not soil the steps.

Many of the clubs and similar organizations have greatly profited by the fact that the members of our class have been active participants. The orchestra is an example of the talent our class possessed, as seniors such as John Lawton, Sherrill Collins, Raymond Frink, Malcolm Macdonald, and Henry Pasqualini have unselfishly and loyally contributed their talents to this musical organization for four years.

The Dramatic Club is to be given a great deal of credit for the new and different production it presented this year which was a serious and dramatic play entitled "Our Town". Most of the leading parts were played by seniors, including Marilyn Pascoe, Doris Pelton, Nan Stoughton, Sherrill Collins and Adolph Grimm. These five people also played in the production "What a Life" during their junior year. The three girls got their start in their sophomore year by taking parts in the play "The Fighting Littles," which also featured Ann Moulton, Loretta La Brie, and Betty Juttner. Sherrill and Adolph did not come into prominence until a short time later when they, together with Lena Watkins, took part in a series of one-act plays.

During our sophomore year the Glee Club ventured to do something different, so, under the guidance of Miss Mende, the club presented the operetta "Send for Aphias," in which Sherrill Collins Doris Pelton, Marie Cavanaugh, and Margaret Reichle had parts. Then last year the combined Boys' and Girls' Glee Club presented "Pinafore," in which Sherrill Collins held a leading part.

Another organization which is still in the process of growing is the journalism group. Seniors who have lent a helping hand to this organization are Harriet Mohn, Leslie Parent, Dorothy Allen, Barbara Blaney, June Dewey, Rita Karvelis, Lorraine White, and Rhoda Bragg.

Our class certainly upheld the reputation of Ellsworth as far as athletics were concerned, for it was out of our class that such all-round athletes as Leonard Muska, Lawrence Muska, Joseph Zanetti, Albin Zagorski, Albert Dumez, George MacKinnon, Edward Muska, Philip Melnik, Emil Sieber, Edward Griswold, John Lawton, George Lorenc, and Richard Cooper came. These athletes participated in basketball, soccer, baseball, and track which all had a successful season.

The girls were also interested in sports, and those who became prominent in this field were Doris Hack, who is known for her famous hook shot, Albina Covensky, and Harriet Mohn. Another group worthy of mention and praise is the cheerleaders — Harriet Mohn, Patrica Shea, Leslie Parent, and Dorothy Allen — who have cheered the teams on to success.

Our fourth year started out in a very promising fashion financially, for we entered this year with a large treasury of $400. However, our goal was the largest possible treasury. The new addition to the Senior-Get-Together this year was a play entitled, "Who Gets the Car Tonight?" Those who took parts were Marilyn Pascoe, Sherrill Collins, Marie Cavanaugh, Adolph Grimm, and Henry Pasqualini. The Get-Together was a great social success.

Again our class undertook something that had never been done before at Ellsworth, but I am quite sure you all know what that was. Yes, it was the task of selling magazines to raise funds for the Washington trip. The magazine selling campaign was to last ten days. There was competition between the two homerooms, in which case the losing homeroom would give a party for the winning one. If $1,500 worth of magazines were sold, the boy or girl who sold the most subscriptions would receive a wrist watch. Lawrence Muska was the winning salesman with a total of $206 worth of subscriptions. If Lawrence missed any of you people, which I doubt, just leave your name and I am sure he will be only too glad to take care of it. We sold over $1,500 worth of subscriptions and made a profit of $544. Incidentally we had the party with room 26 playing host to 24. Naturally Lawrence Muska was in 24.

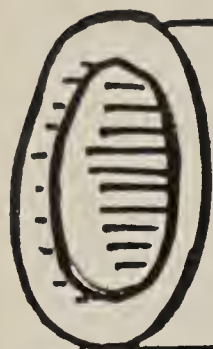

Still in the need of more money we took upon ourselves the task of selling Christmas cards, which netted us a nice sum of $280, and don't forget the coke and fudge, which was made, for the most part by the mothers, and was sold at the play. On this we realized approximately $50.

Upholding our reputation for always trying new things, we sponsored the popular Senior Dance, a combination of modern and square dancing with music by the Jolly Jesters. The committee consisted of General Chairman Joseph Zanetti, and assistants Patrica Shea and Philip Melnik; Adolph Grimm, advertising; Mildred Warbec and Henry Pasqualini, tickets; and William Young, coke. This dance brought us a profit of exactly $39.37.

Soon you will see our yearbook, and naturally we think it is the best that has ever been published. Those who suffered with headaches trying to get everything done on time were Editor-in-chief, Marilyn Pascoe; assistant editor, Sherrill Collins (if Sherrill's eyes are a little strained, it's due to the fact that he did the proof-reading.) Art editors were Doris Pelton, Ann Moulton, Daniel Kobylanski. Business managers, who exhausted the state's gasoline supply chasing after advertisements, were Loretta La Brie and Henry Pasqualini. The salesmen and subscription managers were Leslie Parent and Edward Muska. Lorraine White was the official typist, and she did a very nice job too.

Here, on this night of June 4, 1948, this document brings to a close the fabulous deeds accomplished during our four years here at Ellsworth. We want you to know that it is hard for us to leave you, but we hope you all can stand the strain of our departure. Although you may not see some of us again, those who in the future will be studying United States History will probably encounter some of the names that have been mentioned here tonight. Of course, you may go and see this document when it is placed on the Freedom Train, or in the Congressional Library, or perhaps among the other rare documents in the Smithsonian Institute.

BETTY JUTTNER
CLASS HISTORIAN

Class Will

We the members of the Class of 1948 of Ellsworth Memorial High School, East Windsor Hill, Hartford County, State of Connecticut, United States of America, Continent of North America, Western Hemisphere, the Earth, the Solar System, the universe, being in full possession of our faculties leave this last will and testament.

Henry Pasqualini leaves his fleet of cars to Charlie Clarke. Remember, Charlie, don't trade them too often or you'll need a license.

Doris Hack bequeaths her love for basketball and title of high scorer to Betty Muska.

Patty Potwin is the recipient of Dot Allen's endless chatter. Silence is golden, Patty.

Doris Pelton leaves her ability to master the French language to Kenny O'Dell — especially the accents, Ken.

After much consideration Henry Tanzer decided that Jimmy Pitney should be gifted with his curly hair. You will have to let it grow first, Jim.

Rita Karvelis has decided that Thelma Goodwin should receive her height. Think this will help any, Thelma?

Richard Cooper leaves his title as Frank Sinatra's chief competitor to Donald Lamb. Practice is supposed to make perfect, Don.

John Broughal sadly bequeaths his love for camping to any warm blooded underclassman who can stand the exposure to the elements. John says to be sure and bring along lots of blankets.

Pat Shea leaves her love for eating spaghetti dinners to anyone who thinks he can master the art. Remember, it's not fair to use a knife.

George MacKinnon, after careful consideration, decided that Danny Daley should be the recipient of his extensive vocabulary. Don't stumble over those two-for-a-quarter words, Dapper.

George Lorenc relinquishes his title of most bashful to Barry Randall. We know you're the strong, silent type, Barry.

Phil Melnik leaves his vast array of ties and flashy socks to Donald Foster.

Bill Young departs in a hurry with a new Dodge and a diploma.

Lenny Muska, after great cogitation, has decided that Coach Loeffler should be the lucky fellow to receive his hunting and fishing talents. This also includes two pheasants on the opening day of hunting season, Coach.

Marcelle Begin's noted manuscript. "How to Chew Gum in Class and get Away with It" is turned over to George White for publication.

Barbara Blaney leaves her title as ambassador of good will to Windsor Locks in the hands of Marian Sabonis.

Marie Cavanaugh leaves her policy of hospitality to unexpected guests in the hands of her sister Pat. Marie will be home on weekends to relieve you, Pat.

Sherrill Collins leaves his leading roles in the school plays and his sacred seat in the orchestra to Lenny Kessler. Think you can swing it, Lenny?

Arlene Lackouskas leaves her perseverance and diligence to Alfie Bowidas. Don't get too intellectual now, Alfie.

Hazel Collins leaves her quiet and reserved manner to Paul Juttner.

Jack Lawton just leaves — he hopes!

Eileen Dowd and Charlotte Andross have decided to leave their jobs in the office to Beverly Stolle and Joanna Racz.

Loretta LaBrie sadly bequeaths her ever-ready giggles and her renowned jokes to Marilyn Shaughnessy. We know that you have left them in good hands, Loretta.

Lois Hancock receives Danny Kobylanski's artistic talents.

Lorraine Foster will receive Malcolm Macdonald's technique for tickling the ivories.

Emil Sieber leaves his wide-awake, energetic manner, displayed in math class, to Belmont Broughal. Remember, Belmont, "Early to bed, early to rise makes a man healthy, wealthy, and wise."

Henry Kula's little black book of Windsor addresses is left to George Bourke. Don't trespass on some one else's territory, George.

Dorothy Wadsworth and Ellen Chapman will receive applications from anyone who wishes to fill their positions on refreshment committees.

Connie Grant and Eveline Winn, true square dance enthusiasts, have decided to leave the Grange dances in the custody of Patty Allen and Elaine Packer.

Claire Petersen and Margaret Reichle leave their boots and saddles to Gloria Schweir and Janet Pelton.

Jimmy Snow is the recipient of Larry Muska's salesmanship talent. Larry tells us, Jimmy, that the secret of it all is to keep your foot in the door.

Billy Kennedy leaves his many school offices and positions to Ronny Raichle. Mr. Olsen will be glad to instruct you as to democratic procedure, Ronny.

Peggy Grigely and Doris Huehner leave their adjoining seats and many conversations to Claire Quist and Dolores Rittlinger.

Lorraine White sadly relinquishes her shorthand books to the highest bidder. Take it easy now; don't all speak at once.

Irene Breton's seat on the Connecticut Company bus is reserved for Irwin Weinberg. No back seat driving is permitted, Irwin.

Hazel Collins leaves her pet typewriter to Francis Revay. Don't break too many records, Cue-Ball.

Albina Covensky wills her position on the baseball team to Rita Hack.

Eddie Muska turns over his track records to Henry Jarvis.

Ann Moulton bestows upon Patty Clark her title of sub-deb. That doesn't entitle you to break every boy's heart, Patty.

Jennie Simienski leaves her long walk to the bus each day to Billy Jardine. If you get tired, Bill, just hold out your thumb.

Adolph Grimm leaves his running ability to Joe Sazinski. Adolph carries a lot of weight on the track team this year, Joe. Do you think you can do it?

Rhoda Bragg divides her height equally between Carolyn Vibert and George Palmer.

Ray Frink leaves his lead foot, which has enabled him to be in many places at one time, to David French. You've got to go some to beat Ray's speed records, David.

Willy Arzt leaves his wolfish instinct and Dodge coupe to Curtis O'Dell. We don't know about the wolfish instinct, but we thought you could use the Dodge coupe.

Albin Zagorski bequeaths his permanent wave to Dick Blaney.

Albert Dumez leaves the shop, lock, stock, and barrel to Francis Kreyssig. Remember, Yummy, no dust is to be swept under the mats.

Joe Zanetti has decided that Ricky Osborn should receive his long legs, which have in the past managed to get him into class just as the door closed.

Benny Elinskas leaves his perfect attendance record to Ronnie Roberts. What's your excuse today, Ronnie? Oh, well, we all can't be George Washingtons, Ronnie.

Bob Richardson leaves the masterful art of collecting eggs down on the farm to David Grant. You can't afford to break them in these times, David.

Nancy Grotta leaves Ellsworth Memorial High School badly in need of a dreamer.

June Dewey leaves her Mouton Lamb coat to Joyce Hevenor. It will only get moth eaten if you leave it hanging in the closet, June.

Betty Juttner leaves the custody of North Water Street to Joan Washburn. Sidewalk repairs are to be made once a year, Joan.

Nan Stoughton leaves her title as youngest member of the class to Genevieve Dzen.

Leslie Parent sadly bequeaths her love for cheerleading to Priscilla Collins.

Marilyn Pascoe's title as Ellsworth's leading actress is left to any prospective person who has the talent and ambition.

Mildred Warbec leaves Miss Dziob badly in need of a secretary.

Harriet Mohn's position as editor of "South Winds" is to be filled by Aileen Barry.

Eddie Griswold leaves his job as engineer of the public address system to Mr. Adams. It's all yours, Mr. Adams, take 'er away.

To the Juniors we leave the hope of becoming model seniors, our superior intelligence, good behavior, and unsurpassed marks.

To the Sophomores we leave the hope of becoming great.

To the Freshmen we leave hope.

To the Faculty — we leave.

On this 4th day of June we, the President, William Kennedy; Vice-president, Joseph Zanetti; Secretary, Harriet Mohn; Treasurer, Ann Moulton, set our seal to this last will and testament.

Signed and sealed by the Class of 1948 for their last will and testament, in the presence of those who have hereunto subscribed themselves as witnesses on this 4th day of June, 1948.

Prophecy

Good evening, ladies and gentlemen. Here we are again broadcasting from Radio City Station K. D. K., the most famous station in the East owned, operated, and directed by Daniel Kobylanski, Albert Dumez, and Henry Kula. I regret to announce that our sponsors, Lawrence Muska and Leonard Muska, successful Connecticut farmers, will not be able to be here this evening. Instead we have a great surprise for you.

Yes, here tonight in our own studio is Miss Hush of 1959. No one knows who Miss Hush is except the two great detectives Bill Hawkshaw Young and Willie Sherlock Arzt. They have brought her here tonight, and in a few minutes we shall see who she is. Our detectives have had the help of their two able secretaries, Mildred Warbec and Lorraine White.

In our listening audience we are fortunate to have as our special guest, Miss Margaret Reichle and Miss Claire Petersen, who are now being featured in Roy Rogers' Rodeo, which is at this time corralled at Madison Square Garden. Also with us tonight are Marilyn Pascoe and Adolph Grimm, the stars of the radio serial "The Way to Happiness." With them is Marilyn's favorite hairdresser, Ellen Chapman. Nan Stoughton, who is featured in the title role of the new Broadway hit "Nanny Get Your Gun", is also in our listening audience. By the way, this play is produced and directed by Henry Tanzer and Jane Simienski.

M. T. G. F. Y. Yes. Muska's tobacco is good for you for many reasons. It suits you to a T. Trouble. Have you ever seen anyone on the street coughing violently? You have? You can be sure that this man has been smoking "Muska's Best," product of Lawrence and Leonard Muska, distinguished tobacco growers from Broad Brook, Connecticut.

At this time on our program we usually hear from Jack Lawton and his Rhythm Raiders. But because of the sudden pay raise authorized Professor Sherrill Petrillo Collins, dear Jack has left us and is now playing his trumpet in order to overthrow the popularity of Harry James.

And now we will hear from Miss Hush. Yes, it's that little verse that we've all heard so many times.

B is for my broad smile
As well as the Old Mill Stream.
16 is for success; 7 is for dream.
Give me a thermometer, a cap, and a pill, and I'll bring lots of happiness to those who are ill.

Do you all know who she is? Hmm. Well, then here she is — Miss Hush of 1959. It's our own Peggy Grigely from the Class of 1948.

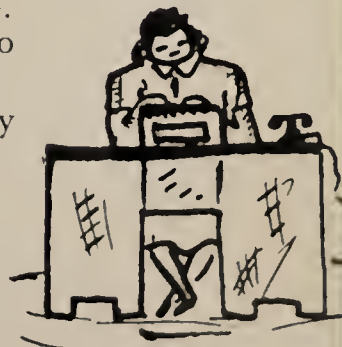

Peg — Hello, Henry.

Henry — Hello, Peggy. Can you tell our listening audience how you were identified as Miss Hush?

Peggy — Surely. The first two lines of the riddle, "B is for my broad smile and B for the mill stream," stand for the town of Broad Brook where I live. If you count to sixteen and seven in the alphabet, you will get my initials P and G. "Give me a thermometer, a cap, and a pill and I'll bring lots of happiness to those who are ill" names my profession, nursing.

Henry — That certainly was a tricky riddle. By the way, did you come directly from Broad Brook?

Peggy — No, I just came back from California.

Henry — You must have had a nice trip flying from California to New York.

Peggy — Oh, yes, Henry, I did. Did you know that Eddie Griswold was the pilot of the airplane? I also met Irene Breton on the airplane. She is an air stewardess for the United Airlines, but she happened to be on the Los Angeles to New York route.

Henry — That's fine. It's a wonder you didn't get air sick, for Eddie used to be a test pilot for the Macdonald Super Plane, Incorporated. You remember Malcolm Macdonald, don't you? He used to predict the weather for us when we were in high school.

Peggy — I remember him very well. I also saw another one of our classmates aboard the airplane. Do you remember Marcelle Begin? She has just come back from Paris and is on her way to the United Nations Conference, where she is one of the world's famous interpreters.

Henry — Speaking of the United Nations Conference, I met William Kennedy the other day, and I found that he is going to the conference also. He's a representative from the state of Connecticut.

Peggy — Yesterday as I was walking down Fifth Avenue, I met Doris Huehner. She and Charlotte Andross are designing clothes for Madam Schaparelli. Only last year Doris and Charlotte returned from Paris with many new fashions.

Henry — Peggy, have you read the new book entitled "How to Catch a Woodchuck" written by Emil Sieber? I've read it, and so far I've trapped three woodchucks. Speaking of trapping, I was reading in the New York Special that George Lorenc and Benedict Elinskas, two famous experts in the field who were looking for woodchucks, caught only bad colds. Both Mr. Elinskas and Mr. Lorenc said that they had followed the rules in Sieber's famous manual.

Peggy — Did you read the latest news in medicine? Ray Frink, the world's famous brain specialist, performed an operation on Professor Einstein, which was successful as usual. Pat Shea, another member of our class, is Ray's receptionist.

Henry — I remember Pat; she was one of the school's best cheerleaders. I wonder whether Pat gives a cheer when Ray performs a successful operation. It seems that Ray Frink and Phil Melnik are becoming closer friends by the day. You see, when Ray gets through with an unsuccessful patient, he turns him over to Phil Digger Melnik, the friendly undertaker. Phil in turn just turns him over. Phil's reliable secretary is Rita Karvelis.

Peggy — You know, Henry, my favorite sport is baseball. During my last New York visit I went to see the New York Gremlins play at Yankee Stadium with Albin Zagorski pitching. Joe Zanetti is manager of the New York club which has won one out of every five games.

Henry — I like to see those games too. If you want to get in for half price as I always do, go to number three ticket office. Selling tickets is Hazel Collins, who will always give you a bargain.

Peggy — Speaking of bargains, last summer I went shopping at the famous Cottonworth store located between Warehouse Point and Broad Brook. Loretta Labrie and Eileen Dowd are the owners of this famous five and dime store. They have delicious popcorn.

Henry — Have you heard the latest news edited by Barbara Blaney in the Atlantic Review? Miss Nancy Grotta has been nominated for Mrs. America of 1959. I have seen many pictures of Ann Moulton on Glance Magazine covers. She is a famous Powers model in New York City.

Peggy — Oh, yes, I've seen her many times myself. But wait until you hear this. Betty Juttner and June Dewey are now operating the Mutt and Jeff Reducing Salon. Because of the overwhelming number of people calling each day, Dorothy Allen is employed as telephone operator at this salon. You remember Dot. She was one of the cheerleaders from our class.

Henry — Weren't there two other members of our class that were cheerleaders?

Peggy — Why yes. There were Harriet Mohn and Leslie Parent. What are they doing now?

Henry — Harriet Mohn is teaching at the Warehouse Point Grammar School. Leslie Parent is teaching kindergarten at the Wapping Grammar School, and Mary Dillon is the school nurse there.

Peggy — Well, isn't that nice! You know at Ellsworth High School they have a few new teachers this year. Barbara Wanat is teaching senior English; Marie Cavanaugh is the new principal, and Edward Muska is the new athletic coach. Quite a few members of our class have settled in their own home town. I guess tomorrow I'll go and visit Ellsworth High. I wonder whether it still looks the same.

Henry — Oh, I suppose it does; and if you get hungry while you are driving in South Windsor, you might try the food at the Evelyn Winn and Rhoda Bragg Snack Bar. Their food is the best in town.

Peggy — I understand Marilyn Sunega has a very thriving business in Broad Brook. She's the new dentist, you know. Arlene Lackouskas is her assistant.

Henry — Well, when I have some bridge work to be done, I will certainly go to Broad Brook to spend my money. While we're on the subject of bridges, I was reading in the morning paper that George MacKinnon, the famous bridge builder and engineer, has built a bridge over the Scantic River, a remarkable task indeed!

Peggy — Yesterday I saw John Broughal with his midget auto going along Fifth Avenue. One day his car zoomed off the famous Scantic bridge and the Cooper Construction Company had to be called to get him out of the Scantic River.

Henry — Is that a fact? Didn't officer Robert Richardson arrest John for reckless driving?

Peggy — Oh, no, the speed limit in Scantic is one hundred miles per hour now, and John was going only ninety-seven miles per hour. Besides John and Robert are great friends, and Bob would never arrest anyone unless he had a very good reason.

Henry — Yes, Bob always was a good-natured fellow. I read in the paper the other day that Doris Pelton had won the Pulitzer Prize for her wonderful drawings in a new book for children.

Peggy — Yes, I also noticed that Albina Covensky has just received a patent for her invention of the bouncing basketball. Also, Doris Hack is playing professional basketball at Madison Square Garden. She is having wonderful results with Albina's new invention.

Henry — Yes, Doris and Albina were very good basketball players when they were in high school.

Oh, I see our time is running short. This certainly has been an inspiring interview, Peggy. Have you anything more to add before we go off the air?

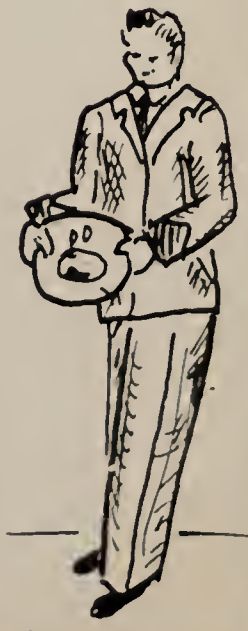

Peggy — Yes, I almost forgot. Connie Grant is president of the Cider Mill in Melrose and Dorothy Wadsworth is her very capable secretary. Every year they have a tremendous number of people who come to buy their famous beverage.

Henry — I'm going to try some of that cider and see whether it will do wonders for me. This has been a very enjoyable evening. And now for the benefit of the listening audience here again is the famous riddle of Miss Hush of 1959.

B is for my broad smile
as well as for the Old Mill Stream.
16 is for success, and 7 for dream.
Give me a thermometer, a cap, and a pill, and I'll bring lots of happiness to those who are ill.

Be sure to tune in your radio to station K. D. K. next week, ladies and gentlemen, for we have a brand new contest at hand. Here is a clue which will be sure to help you. If you have ten teeth in your head and five dollars in your pocket, what is the name of the fellow who invented the ice cream cone? Remember this original idea is sponsored by the one and only "Muska's Best."

Since its official beginning five years ago the orchestra has made great strides in its development. Its repertoire includes marches, overtures, semi-classics, and special arrangements of the current popular tunes. The orchestra still lacks a certain number of string instruments to complete itself, however. Plans are being made to expand in this field in the future. This year a band was also begun and many more musicians have been discovered in the school.

As in past years, the S. C. H. E. sponsored the annual Sports' Dance, which was very successful. Other activities for the year included an informal coke party for new members, a Christmas Party, a theater and dinner party, and an ice-skating party. Another of the highlights of the year was the combined Mother and Daughter tea and Fashion Show given in the spring. Miss Dorothy Spurgas, Home Economics Director, is faculty sponsor of the S. C. H. E.

First Row, Left to Right: Anna Howard, Olive Crawford, Janet Hudson, Claire Petersen, Francis Burnham, Adolph Grimm, Leslie Parent, Sherrill Collins, Marian Sabonis, Patricia Cavanaugh, Nina Parent. Second Row: Dorothy Luchina, Arline Luchina, Doris Pelton, Aileen Barry, Margaret Reichle, Naanne Mellen, Jean LaPierre, Lois Rice, Marilyn Macdonald. Third Row: Janet Lynskey, Jean Badstubner, Joyce Irwin, Marilyn Shaughnessy, Joyce Hevenor, Barbara Sullivan, Nan Stoughton, Priscilla Collins, Ann Moulton, Rita Hack. Fourth Row: Pat Shea, Arline Chickey, June Sieber, Genevieve Dzen, Lorraine Foster, Dorothy Jurgelas, Carolyn Vibert, Marilyn Pascoe, Nancy Grotta. Instead of the traditional presentation of a comedy for their fall performance, the Dramatic Club this year gave Thornton Wilder's Our Town. Although regular scenery was reduced to a minimum, an elaborate lighting plan and the largest cast ever to appear in an Ellsworth play were features of the production.

The Technical Service Squad has been a great aid to the teachers and the school this year. In addition to learning to operate amplifiers and projectors, the members put their knowledge to practical use by playing the records for the noon-time program and by running the projectors for teachers who wish to show educational films to their classes.

HI-Y

The Hi-Y Club this year has held two activity period meetings, and one evening meeting a month. Its program has included suppers, hikes, and assembly programs. The Hi-Y also had a basketball team, which played other Hi-Y Clubs.
